Your Excellency,

I am writing to express my deep concern about the detention of the Tibetan Lama Jigme Guri

On 20 August 2011 Jigme Guri a senior monk from Labrang Monastery in Sangchu (Xiahe Xian) (Gansu), was arrested for the third time in three years. He disappeared after Public Security Officials raided his hotel room in the city of Hezou, Gansu.

I therefore call on you urgently to reveal Lama Jigme Guri's whereabouts and the reasons that he was detained. I join people worldwide in calling for his immediate release.

I demand that you immediately and unconditionally release Jigme Guri, who has committed no crime but has exercised his right to free expression by speaking out against the torture and oppression experienced by himself and by the Tibetan people.

I also urge you to guarantee that he has access to any medical care he may require, legal representation of his choosing and family.

These arrests and the ongoing harassment of monks and local Tibetans are a direct violation of their basic human rights, including religious freedom. Your continued crackdown in Tibetan areas only serves to further tarnish China's international reputation.

Thanking you, yours faithfully,

我写这封信的目的在于表达对久美果日被监禁的严重关切，久美果日2011年8月20日在甘肃省合作市旅馆中遭到公安人员强行侵入房间后失踪至今。

我要求你立即公布久美果日的行踪，以及他被逮捕的原因。

我强烈要求你立即无条件释放久美果日，他并无任何犯罪行为，仅仅是行使他应有的言论自由，为西藏人民被酷刑虐待而发声

Dear Madam,

I am writing to express my deep concern about the arbitrary detention of the Tibetan Lama Jigme Guri (Chinese: 久美果日).

On 20 August 2011 Jigme Guri, a senior monk from Labrang Monastery in Amdo (Province Gansu), was arrested for the third time in three years. He disappeared after Public Security Officials raided his hotel room in the city of Hezou, Gansu.

He was arrested for the first time on 22 March 2008 for taking part in the peaceful demonstration by the monks from the Labrang monastery in Sangchu (Xiahe Xian) and underwent refined torture for two months before being released in a critical condition. Despite this, on 12 September 2008, he gave an interview to "Associated Press" and once again expressed the aspirations of Tibetans to freedom of expression and of religion. He also described the tortures that he and other monks from the Labrang monastery had endured and the still ongoing assault of the Chinese police and army against the Labrang monastery and the whole Tibetan region of Sangchu. In May 2009 he was released on bail.

I therefore beg you urgently to try everything to find out Lama Jigme Guri's whereabouts and the reasons that he was again detained.

I demand that the Chinese authorities immediately and unconditionally release Jigme Guri, who has committed no crime but has exercised his right to free expression by speaking out against the torture and oppression experienced by himself and by the Tibetan people. I also urge the authorities to guarantee that he has access to any medical care he may require, legal representation of his choosing and family.

These arrests and the ongoing harassment of monks and local Tibetans are a direct violation of their basic human rights, including religious freedom. Thanking you, yours faithfully,

Your Excellency,

久美果日
